This Never Happened

My dear husband, said the confiding young wife, you said some awful things to me the other last night.

Did I? What did I say? asked the man. Getting ready for almost any.

Yes, I talked about full houses and amlies and lilies and edges and a lot of stupid things, said the wife.

What did I mean, dear?

My dear, answered the culprit, gathering all his faculties for the supreme ascription of his life, it didn't mean a thing.

My husband is perfectly honest, said the wife, and the lady husband was known of a white man getting far into that part of the country.

That part of the country, a Peace river crossing, by way of Athabasca, is 100 miles long and 200 miles wide.

PARCEL POST ADVANTAGE TO MERCHANTS

With the question of the parcel post system under consideration by the Dominion Parliament, it is a good time to consider what it will mean to the business interests of the country, says the Western Canada Contractor. In this connection the journal has the following very pertinent remarks to make about the attitude of the local merchant to the system in view of the possible effect, which it will have on the business of the mail order houses:

"In the west the mail order system of buying has done incalculable harm to the local and western industry and trade. The trade of the catalogue houses has been built up upon a misconception, widespread and strongly entrenched, that it is to the advantage of the individual to trade with them."

In hundreds of cases it has been demonstrated that if the local dealer carried on business on the same lines as do the mail order houses, the people of this section would think him most unreasonable. I'll take your money, I'll select your goods or your garments or your musical instruments, they reach you at the end of a week or two or three weeks—not for a moment would the ordinary individual consider such a proposition if made by his local storekeeper.

Slowly but surely the people are becoming educated to the fact that the proposition of the mail order house is not business like, that it is one-sided and all one way. Slowly they are coming to see that it is not to their best interests in that it hurts their community to go to the local dealer when they want credit and buy from the mail order house when they have the cash.

The doctrine of "buy at home, and in helping the home town, you help yourself," is beginning to take root and to flourish. It has been a hard fight, there is much fighting yet to be done, but there has been progress.

The local merchant can be, if he chooses, as big and as complete a merchant in his own community as any catalogue house in the world, and has the added advantage, if he permits it, of having the personal acquaintance and confidence of a large majority of his customers. The merchant who adjusts complaints makes things right, who can give advice, and who, with the parcel post will be able to deliver immediately anything that is ordered—in less than a quarter of the time that the mail order houses have been delivering—that the storekeeper will know a prosperity that he has never known before.

With parcel post, economy, efficient and intelligent advertising by local merchants and manufacturers, there will be a dissemination of information and distribution on a much larger and more expeditious scale than before."

THE NEWSPAPER LAW

1.—The postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law) when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reason for it not being taken. Neglect to do this makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2.—If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the post office or not.

3.—Any person who takes a paper out of the postoffice, whether directed to his name or not, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for payment of same.

4.—If a subscriber orders his paper stopped and the publisher continues sending it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it from the postoffice. This proceeds upon the grounds that man must pay for what he uses.

5.—The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the postoffice or removing and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

A SOLUTION TO PERMANENT ROAD BUILDING

A hundred million dollars a year for dust. Rather a large outlay, particularly where it isn't gold dust, but just the ordinary eye-filling, throat-choking common or garden variety.

But that's what the United States paid for the dust-clouds on her roads in 1911, according to recently compiled statistics.

The figures are of exceptional interest to Canada, for the reason that the dust-clouds over road-building is just beginning, and she has the opportunity to profit by the mistakes of her neighbor to the South.

The wastefulness of road repairing is strikingly illustrated by the American figures, which show that twice as much money is spent annually for repairs as is used for the construction of new roads. For example: In 1911, $142,000,000 was spent for repairs to roads, and this sum $102,000,000 was expended for repair and maintenance, while only $100,000,000 was expended on new construction.

One fact made plain by these figures is that there is great need for roads that will withstand automobile traffic. At the present time there is already an enormous number of automobiles in use on country highways. In the near future, the motor truck will undoubtedly come into large use as the means of transporting the country's agricultural products to the city. This will further necessitate the type of road construction that will withstand the ravages of motor-propelled vehicles. In this connection it will be noted that the funds previously spent for road types of gravel or macadam will be practically wasted. In 1907 the State of New Jersey had a 251

Eternal Vigilance

The advertising merchant is the one who does the business in these days of push and enterprise. There are more newspaper readers today than ever before in the history of the world. The newspaper can place the business you have and your wants before the eyes of buyers, who see what they want and know where to find it, look up the wide awake merchant who wants him to come and see him. Success in these days of sharp competition calls for eternal vigilance. You cannot keep a hustler down.

A Solution To Road Building

large mileage of macadam which was well adapted to the horse-drawn traffic of that period, and spent but $600,000 for road repair during the year. In 1908 the charges jumped to $800,000 in 1909 to $1,421,000, and in 1911 to $1,505,000. These increased repair charges were in close proportion to the increased number of automobiles in use in the state. The figures show conclusively that the more permanent type of construction is necessary. Even the later types of bituminous and oil-bound macadam that were built after the European method of construction, in the hope of finding a type less expensive to maintain, were found to reduce the cost of road repair but little, and it came to be conceded by engineers generally in the various countries and states that brick or wood-block paving similar to city construction was a necessity for rural roads.

In the meantime, however, the road commissioners of Wayne County, Michigan, found a satisfactory solution of the road problem by means of concrete, built in much the same manner as the concrete pavements under brick and granite blocks are built in the cities. Detroit is one of the largest automobile centres on the continent, and the automobile interests in Detroit were largely instrumental in the raising of funds for the construction of concrete pavements built in Wayne County.

Wayne County roads were experimented with at first, and when the board of county road commissioners had satisfied themselves that concrete was both adaptable to traffic conditions and sufficiently permanent to be a real economical type of construction they invested $65,000 in the purchase of road building equipment, so that the work could be prosecuted advantageously and economically. Almost with the first mile of pavement built the sentiment among the farmers of the county changed, and there was a demand for more concrete roads over which four or five times larger loads could be hauled. The county bonded itself for $2,000,000 for the continuance of the work, and at the present time Wayne County has 80 miles of roadway, that is a distinctly American type, and meets the traffic conditions so satisfactorily as to more than justify expenditure.

These pavements have attracted the attention of road builders all over the United States and Canada. Almost daily road officials inspect the pavements and return home satisfied that they had seen the solution of the American road problem. European engineers visiting this country are astonished at the permanency and at the low cost of maintenance of the roads. And at the present time the United States office of public roads is experimenting with concrete, after careful inspection of the Wayne County work.

Concrete is being used very extensively in all parts of Canada, both for street pavements in towns and cities and for country roads. It seems to provide the long-sought permanent type of roadway that can be built at a reasonable first cost.

ALIX HOLDS THE 'BREWERY CUP'

"The Red Sox Baseball team of the City Amateur League, that has just closed, leave for Alix Thursday morning to play a series of three games for the cup emblematic of the championship of the Province. The Red Sox made a grand showing during the season just closed and should give the Alix team a stiff rub for the cup. The winners of two of the three scheduled games will be entitled to the cup and the amateur championship of Alberta."

The above is clipped from the Edmonton Bulletin of the 10th inst., and the first game on Thursday afternoon was above par.

Three Mirror players were in the game and where just as good as any on the diamond. The first was first; Suggett, at third and Pitman in centre field. In the fourth Smith and Van Lee, of Alix, were on first and second, respectively, when Pitman smashed out a two bagger, that tallied the only two scores in the game.

In the game this (Friday) afternoon Alix secured a decisive hold on the cup, by defeating the "Blue Labels" 5 to 3. It was a great game and Pitman twirled a gilt edged variety of ball. Alix now holds the championship for this year.

Quite a number of Mirror fans journeyed to Alix to witness the contests.

South Buffalo Lake

(From Nemo)

Grain cutting here has been rushed on during the past week and many have all the grain in stock. We shall soon be expecting the hum of the threshers in this district.

A. J. Johnson, of Calgary, travelling agent for the I. H. C. Co., paid a hurried visit to his sister, Mrs. J. H. Sorum, on the 1st inst., and returned to Calgary via Trochu the next day.

Messrs. Yarwood & Cruickshank, of Alix, recently erected a comfortable cottage on their farm here for a summer residence during the working season.

Owing to press of work the S. R. L. baseball team has been forced for the season, and will challenge this year for the "Brewery Cup."

There is material here for a good strong hockey team, and when winter sets in we hope they will get together. There is plenty of room on Buffalo Lake for hockey rinks.

We have the painful duty of recording the sad loss to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Barrett, of their infant son on the 3rd inst. The funeral took place on the 4th, interment being made in the cemetery near Alix, the Rev. Mr. Leslie, of Alix, assisted by the Rev. J. W. Brown, of Erskine, officiating at both home and cemetery. The sympathy of this entire community and in fact from all over was freely extended to the bereaved parents in their sad loss. Beautiful flowers were sent from all over, and the attendance at both house and grave was large. Human sympathy at its best is but cold comfort to us in our hours of sorrow, but that was so freely given by all, showed the warmth of Western hearts. Your correspondent respectfully tenders the following lines by an unknown author as carrying the promise of a future reunion to the bereaved parents.

"Dearest loved one, we have laid thee in the peaceful grave's embrace, But thy memory will be cherished. Till we see Thy Heavenly face."

The Cow Jumped Over The Moon

Winnipeg may have her stampede, Edmonton her fair, but the other day Mirror had an exhibition of cow-boy's going through the air—at the end of a rope) and a poor little Jersey cow that wandered away was the cause of it all. After a deal of running and some language (!!) and help from a well known rope thrower, Mr. Higgin's pet cow, strenuously objecting, was brought home but not for long. On Sunday morning one of our citizens was aroused from his peaceful slumber and taking a look out of the window he received the impression that a moving picture outfit was getting some wild west pictures, but when he saw the boys run for the axe, he recognized two Mirrorites. He also saw a man or boy going through the air like a falling meteor. It was Mr. La Pointe chasing that poor little animal. Perhaps he was being dragged but still right side up, and at noon he was discovered in Lamerton playing ring-around-the-rosy with the same little cow. Bold and Charles appeared on the scene and the cow was again taken to the starting point and securely tethered. It is not known when the next performance will take place, but advance notices will probably be sent out.—Cont.

First Agricultural Bank In Canada

Regina, Aug. 30.—Following the investigations of the provincial government into the question of agricultural credits, both by the commission sent to Europe and the commission taking evidence in the province it is possible that on a not distant time the first agricultural bank in Canada will be founded.

The bank proposed is modelled after the Landeskassen of Germany, which, instead of being composed of lenders, is constituted of borrowers, working on a co-operative basis, the bank's assets being the credits of each individual farmer of the province, who guarantees the bonds issued by the agricultural bank by his own possessions. The fundamental principle is joint borrowing for individual needs. The bank will obtain its funds in Europe at the lowest rate of interest possible, and will re-lend the money to its members at a slightly higher rate, the difference being sufficient to cover actual operating expenses.

The modus operandi calls for the issue of coupon bonds, say of $1000 each, which will be held by Europeans or in Canada if any investor considers the interest sufficiently large in connection with the gilt-edged security it offers. The interest coupons are detached by the holder on maturity and cashed at the bank headquarters or at its London representatives. This money is then placed at the disposal of the farmers, who borrow sufficient for their needs, giving their personal notes. As they repay the interest due on their individual loans the money becomes available for the payment of the bond coupons on maturity.

The bonds, which bear interest at five per cent, are redeemable on six months' notice. European experience has proved such bonds to be first-class security, ranking at times with even government bonds.

Carried out in detail, the plan calls for the establishment of local credit associations, each merged into the provincial whole, each member of which pledges himself for the credit of the association. Little outside help will be asked, the bank being ever-sustaining. It is likely that if the plan comes to fruition, as many prominent farmers expect, the provincial government will be asked to pass legislation arranging for the establishment of the association, and probably for a small sum of money for organization purposes. The provincial authorities will also be asked to supervise the issuing of the bonds, and perhaps at first to guarantee them until the bank is well established.

G. T. P. HAS NEW CARS

The Grand Trunk Pacific has received the first five of their new sleeping cars on this year's order and are justly proud of them.

Two years ago that company introduced electric lighted steel underframe sleepers, the first of the kind used in Canada, and later furnished the first electric lighted trains in Western Canada. It was felt at that time that these sleepers were the slickest, handsomest and roomiest ever produced, besides containing many features possessed by no other sleeping cars, and in the intervening two years it is certain that no line has produced cars to surpass or even equal them in appointments or strength.

The cars just to hand are even an improvement, as they embody many additional features of beauty and comfort which place them in a class by themselves. The finish is exquisite; the latest electric fans and ventilating appliances including vacuum cleaning machines are part of the equipment; drawing rooms and compartments (on suite or single) are provided and all berths are electric lighted with effective reading lamps. The upper berths are arranged to take away the last objection as they afford higher space and roomier than the lowers and are not at all difficult to enter or leave. The Grand Trunk Pacific are assuredly living up to the standard set for "character" service and are affording the people of Western Canada better facilities than are employed on any other American Railway.

The first car of the new series "Canterbury" left on No. 4 for Fort William on Saturday night on which train not less than three electric lighted sleepers are operated regularly, even then it has been almost a nightly occurrence to turn away business-owing to lack of accommodation available, for which the company's motto and the assurance is now given that ample equipment will be available hereafter to afford accommodation to all seeking the popular route.
